

Free Microsoft Software and VMWare Licensing

As an MIS major, or a student who is currently enrolled in one or more MSIS class this semester, you have free access to a variety of Microsoft and VMWare software through agreements made with Microsoft, VMWare and the MSIS department. Many of these products are not freely available to other students on campus.

You can access Microsoft software by following the directions in the attached document.

You can access VMWare products at

<http://e5.onthehub.com/WebStore/ProductsByMajorVersionList.aspx?ws=d6719017-d6e5-de11-a13b-0030487d8897&vsro=8>

If you have not previously had access to the products that we license for you, you probably received a notification directly from VMWare yesterday I wanted to let you know that this is legitimate and not spam. In that message was login information. If you have ever had access before, you would use your same credentials to log in. Usually, that's your OKey e-mail address (first.last@okstate.edu). If you don't know what your password is, go to the link above, click "log in" and follow the steps to recover your password.

Most software may be downloaded, installed, and activated on any one computer you own or have exclusive use of as long you are an MIS major and enrolled in the current semester at OSU, or are enrolled in any MSIS course in the current semester. For many products, you are then allowed to continue to use that version of the software for non-commercial purposes even after you are no longer a student. We cannot provide access to the site (where your activation codes are stored) in semester that you are not enrolled in any MSIS class, so be sure to keep track of that valuable information.

No support other than setting up access to the above websites and paying for your licensing is provided by us.
